a question of eliquette which any other people would have shouldly lower to the inhuman and really danger as felicially valved to the inhuman and really danger as felicially be which we were subjected in the minerable strainty in the property of the prop

a pay for the education of their children. Hat as this a subject that will never pay, suppose we turn to some a surrounded by some forty or fifty cooles, who med to have been put there by the government existly to get in the way. We could scarcely turn around theut running one or more of them down. Inquiry told, however, that they had not been put there as sturning blocks but as servants, whereupon we chose one each room out of the lot and turned the others away, now became the business of those thus retained to be the beek and call of every one connected with his paraiar room. We used to send them for water to bathe for fire to light our segars with, and occasionally out to the city to make some slight purchase. The latter is at once put a stop to, however, by the mandarins; d to show the way in which they accomplished this is present object.

Mr. S. Weils Williams, the chief interpreter, had eated for his room a very tall and thin young m, who looked as if he might have passed sovedays without caing. In fact, I believe the selection was made because he looked as if he need the properties of the selection of t sum, no matter how small. Staggering that night under his well filled pockets, he left the Yamoon at the usual hour and returned to his city haunts and boon companions, where the supposition is that he got drunk. At any rate, the next day the mandarin who had charge of the gate to our residence informed Mr. Williams that his boy had been behaving badly, and that he had erdered another in his place. This Mr. W. very naturally looked upon as a high handed measure, remarking that common courtesy would have dictated consulting him upon the subject, and informed the officer that he magist not be ensured that he had been drunk that he was very well satisfied with the boy and desired that he might not be an been drunk that he was to be punished, but because he had been drunk that he was to be punished. Therefore he was not willing that he should be punished. Therefore he was not willing that he should be punished. The mandarin replied that he was sorry, but that things must take their course, &c., whereupon Mr. W. swelled quite large, and told him that if a hair of his head was hurt, or words to that effect, that it would be at the risk of the officer, as he should most certainly report it to his superiors. I do not think that this very proper threat had much effect however, for that very evening, as I was writing in my room, I heard continued cries of agony following continued sounds of a hamboo application in a neighboring building, and the next day learned that it was our poor slim boy who had been advanced for the purchase of the beef was returned by the gate official, with the information that it was on necessary to pay for the beef; and while we war was requested one hundred strokes with this bandoen dravaced for the beef was returned by the gate official, with the information that it was on necessary to pay for the beef; and while we were worrying over the fact of our slim boy being now minus its actual cost, there came silly a friend of his with the information that the was not had received one hundred strokes ent day the money was again returned. How and the efficials discover it, and did they give him a second bambeoing? are questions that we had no means of determining.

Let us now say a few words regarding Shanghae items. It is the 17th of September, and we are about leaving for a month's cruise to Japan, with the Hon. J. E. Ward and several others as the guests of the Flag Officer.

There has been much excitement among the lower order of Chinese of this locality, during the past month or more, upon the subject of kidnapping coolies for transportation as laborers to French colonies. It seems that, before M. It Baron Gros left this, last year, he entered into an agreement with the local mandarins for the delivery of 20,000 such "aborers." to take place within a certain period at this port and Ningpo. Of course the mandarins were well paid for their interest in the matter as an inducement for them to "stick to the plough." Well, after a while sociles began to get scarce, and the required number being stil untilled the mandaruns, fearful of failing in their contract, rather winked at the exercise of a little force in the canvassing process. At first this was resorted to carefully and secretly, and with good success, inturded of unsuspecting coolies being entrapped by Chinese crimps into out of the way places, gagged, bound and transported on shipboard. Suddenly, however, accounts of these outrages began to be whispered along the coast from Ningpo here, and the feeling of the misses at once blazed into indignation. Then came the news of their victory at the north, and indignation became bold and took away European life, and rendered foreign property and life both insecure. This is unquestionably the true listory of the recent outrages, but there are some who contend that the kidnapping is all humbug, and that the bad feeling lately shown was the result of latent hatred toward all foreigners, which only required the news of a victory to stimulate it into activity. There is unquestionably a great deal in this, but it i mandarins at least, to protect the lives and property of foreigners. Here is the way it reads:—

Whereas, people belonging to the Shanghae district have murdered as kaglahmas and have beaten and wounded Mr. Lay, Inspector General of Cusloms, and others I have as several occasions given orders for the adoption of the most vigerous measures for the capture of the murderers, and I have sent to Shanghae an efficer of rank to superintend these messures and to hurry their execution. Letter from Mr. Edmund Rudin.

To THE FDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Charlemown, Va., Dec. 6, 1859.

When a private individual has been calumniated by or through your own reporter. I presume that you will not refuse to admit the insertion in your paper of a denial. In the Herald of yesterday, the writer of your "Charlestown Correspondence," of date of December 1, when reporting (as he says) what Col. Baylor said, among sundry other matters (not concerning me), states the following—"He (Col. B.) had heard that white haired old man, Edmund Ruffin, make a treasonable harangue in the street to-day, and had gone up and told him that he was protected by his gray hairs and by the military, but that if he came here a month hence and made a similar speech, he would be taken down to "the run" and well ducket, and then driven out of tone."

There is not the least foundation of truth for the portion of the above passage which is marked for italies. Neither Col, Baylor nor any other person has uttered, in my hearing, or to my knowledge, these or any similar or other insulting or offensive remarks. I do not know that I even was spoken to by that gentleman, and from no person here have I heard any words spoken to me (or any of me previous to this false report), that were not entirely courteous, and in manner respectful or kind.

EDMUND RUFFIN.

CONSIDERABLY ALARMED.—The people of Talbot county, Maryland, have been much alarmed for the last few weeks, by reports of contemplated insurrections among the negroes, and the collection of arms by thom. At Easton and St. Michael's a number of families had congregated from the surrounding country, leaving their houses shut up and deserted. Armed patrols guard the country, while all the towns and villages have bodies of armed men ready for the insurgents. The fears of the inhabitants were excited by the statements of a negro woman, which could only have obtained credence strough fear, for they were of a character not to be believed in moments of cool reflection.

COMPORTAINE APARTMENTS.—A Mormon advertisement reads as follows:—"To be let, rooms for two gentlemen and four wives, or for one gentleman and six wives."
